From Maine State Prison Comes a Generous Check To Help Swell Fund

Donald V. Taverner, Portland, Northern New England Representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced today that J. Wallace Lovell, Warden of Maine State Prison, Thomaston has turned over to the Polio Fund a check representing the unsolicited contribution of the inmates of the State Prison.

In reporting the unusual contribution, Warden Lovell stated that full credit belongs to the inmates who initiated a polio emergency drive under inmate leadership. The contribution is the most generous one, comparing with equivalent contributions from regular sources.

Warden Lovell further stated that the inmates are always sympathetic toward worthy causes and wished their support of the current polio emergency drive in a concrete fashion.

ASKS A PERTINENT QUESTION

Wants To Know If American People Want It Put Out Of Business

Do the American people want A&P out of business? This blunt question was asked in an advertisement published by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in 2,000 newspapers. It was an answer to the anti-trust division's suit filed in Federal Court in New York last week, calling for dissolution of the Company.

Pointing out that the attack, if successful, would mean higher food prices, A&P said, "This poses a basic question for the American people. Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living or do they want to break up A&P and have lower living standards?"

The statement explained that the suit was brought under the anti-trust laws, which were passed to prevent anyone from getting a monopoly and then raising prices to the public.

"We have never done any of these things," said A&P. "Nobody has ever shown we have anything even approaching a monopoly of food business anywhere. Nobody has ever said we charge too high prices—just the opposite. We would not of had any of this trouble if instead of lowering prices we had raised them and pocketed the difference."

A&P stated that the entire system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution is threatened, because if the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be cleared for the destruction of every other efficient, large-scale distributor."

"A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than 90 years we have tried to build a sound business on a simple formula: 'Give the people the most good food for the money.'"

"The American people have shown that they like our lower price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, made us big."

A&P said that while the interest of the owners of the Company were of little importance, millions of consumers, hundreds of thousands of farmers, thousands of manufacturers and businessmen and the firm's 110,000 employees would be hurt if A&P were destroyed.

"We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend by every legitimate means this Company and the low price policy upon which it was built."

Islesboro Diggers

Clam Law Infraction Puts Non-Residents Into the Belfast Court

The town of Islesboro has been covered by a State law, P.S. Maine, Chapter 126, which allows only residents of the island to dig clams commercially. Residents and non-residents alike are allowed to dig up to 1/2 bushel a day for their own use or for their own families.

This law was felt to be necessary as several families depend upon the amount of clams they can dig and sell to aid them during the winter months when work is scarce. Clams dug by non-residents decrease the amount available for residents.

On Sept. 6, 1949 two men from Rockland were taken by the warden for digging clams, a Mr. Gray and a Mr. Jewell on Sept. 15, they were found guilty in Belfast court by Judge Thornton, and fined $10 and costs of $11.39 each. This was the first case under this law, which became effective Aug. 6.

RENT CONTROL IS LIFTED

Rockland Area Was Finally Added To the Decontrolled List

Federal rent control was lifted in the Rockland area yesterday, together with several other sections of the State.

The Knox County region was not decontrolled last week, when all other areas under the Bath Rent Control Office were freed from government jurisdiction. A former official of the Bath office, Judge John J. Keegan, said yesterday that he believed the omission of Knox County from the decontrolled list was an oversight. Wesley Whelpley, State rent control director, was of the same opinion.

Later in the day Mr. Whelpley called The Courier-Gazette with the information that despatches had just arrived from rent control headquarters in Washington that the Rockland defense area in Knox County had been de-controlled.

This action removes entirely the control of the Federal government over rental charges in this area; leaving landlords and tenants the task of determining rental charges between them.

IT'S A FIRST LINE UNIT

Battery D Of Knox County Is Part Of a Great Military Organization

"Of the citizen Army, the National Guard is in the first category of importance. It must be healthy and strong, ready to take its place in first line of defense in the first weeks of emergency."

Thus General George C. Marshall, then Chief of Staff, U.S. Army, stated the objective and the new mission of the post-war National Guard—a far greater responsibility than it had before World War I and II. Before seeing action in those two conflicts, the National Guard needed more equipment and training in order to take offensive action. For the most part, Guard divisions were used as cadres. The ranks of the Guard divisions were filled with new men requiring complete training.

Here in Knox County, Battery D 703d Anti-Aircraft Artillery is a part of the Nation's M-Day Force which is training to take its place in the country's first line of defense.

Actually the M-Day (Mobilization Day) Mission of the new National Guard is not new but is older than the Nation itself. It goes back to the Militia regiments of the 17th Century which were the forerunners of the National Guard as we know it today. Then the Colonists laid down their plows and took up their muskets for the immediate defense of their homes. Today, that spirit again prevails but with a modern organization, vastly expanded, and equipped with the latest in weapons and equipment.

In order to accomplish this mission, the new National Guard was authorized to expand from 19 divisions it had in World War II to 25 Infantry Divisions, two Armored Divisions, 21 separate Regimental Combat Teams and 43 Anti-Aircraft and Artillery Groups (97 battalions).

In addition, there are numerous non-divisional combat support units including Field Artillery, Armored Cavalry, Engineer Quartermaster, Signal Corps, Ordnance, Military Police and Transportation units. The Air National Guard has 12 Air Wings of 72 Fighter Squadrons, 12 Light Bombardment Squadrons, 36 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadrons with supporting units.

Organization of the new National Guard began in 1946 and today is virtually completed with a strength of more than 355,000 in more than 5,000 units. Army units total more than 4,500 with a strength of 315,000. The Air National Guard has completed organization of all its allotted 514 units and has a strength of 41,000 men.

The National Guard's service to the country is not limited to the training for and the fighting of wars, however. Guardsmen battled the raging forest fires in Maine in the Fall of 1947 and are credited with saving several communities. They worked tirelessly on the ground during "Operation Haylift," when the blizzards of 1948-49 swept the Western states. The Columbia River floods in Oregon and Louisiana in 1948 necessitated calls for the National Guard. And the Guard responded in the same tradition as it did at the San Francisco earthquake in 1906 and again in the Ohio and Mississippi Valley floods of 1936.

Today's Guardsmen are associating themselves with traditions older than the Nation itself—but as modern as the newest tank off the assembly line. They have the opportunity of training with the latest of Army equipment and methods. They augment their civilian income, earn credit towards retirement and receive promotions as they increase their proficiency.

Battery D 703d AAA drills every Monday night at the Armory at the Municipal Airport in Ash Point. Transportation is available by Army truck from the Post Office at 7 p. m. Prospective recruits are welcome to ride the truck to watch a drill session.

Amazing Free Motion Picture 'On Fire Extinguishers At Fire Station Tonight

A general invitation to all interested citizens of Rockland and vicinity has been issued by Chief Van Russell to attend a remarkable moving picture at 7 p. m. tonight on the care and use of all types of fire extinguishers. It will be free of course, and the place will be the handsome new Central Fire Station, Spring street.

Those who have seen the picture praise it to the skies as answering the all important question effectively. An unusual concern has been felt of late concerning the safety of any fire extinguisher. This film taking only one half hour time, will effectively and once for all put aside all fear of fire extinguishers and a complete new confidence in their value in every home and business establishment.

SCALE OF DIVIDENDS LISTED

Veterans' Administration Releases Information On Payments To Veterans Of World War II

M. L. Stoddard, manager of the paid after that date will be made at some future time.

Togus Veterans Administration Center, acting on information received from Carl R. Gray, Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs, has made public the first VA calculations showing the proposed scale of the $2,800,000,000 National Service Life Insurance dividend which may be paid in individual cases to nearly 16,000,000 World War II veterans in this country, among whom there are about 89,000 in Maine.

Stoddard said that veterans who were under age 41 at the time of issue of their NSLI will receive a dividend refund in the amount of 65 cents for each month premiums paid, upon each thousand dollars of insurance from the date of issue of their insurance until the same date in 1948. For veterans who were 41 years or older at the time of issue, the amount of the refund is smaller depending upon the age at time of issue. The reason that the dividend scale is the same for all persons under age 41 is that the mortality rate for those ages did not vary much.

The dividend scale will be applied equally to all plans of insurance, whether upon the term plan (the kind of insurance first received in service) or upon the permanent plan of insurance (after a change from term insurance). The reason for this is that the refund arises from the saving on the estimated cost of death claims. All of the term insurance premium was based on the estimate, while only a certain portion of the premium of the permanent plan was charged for that purpose, the remainder being necessary for accumulation of the reserve, or cash value, of the permanent plans of insurance.

Under the scale of dividends announced by the VA, $528.00 is the largest possible amount of refund payable to any person. This would be paid in the cases of veterans under age 41 at time of issue of their insurance, who had the maximum of $10,000 of any plan of insurance and who paid premiums for 96 months. Refunds below this amount will vary according to the age of the insured, the amount of insurance, and the number of months the premiums were paid from date of issue of the insurance until the same date in 1948. Stoddard reminded veterans of four things: First of all, the refund will be based upon the number of months premiums were paid from the date of issue only until the same date in 1948—refunds for premiums

At Park Theatre

Movies Taken During Lobster Festival Will Be Shown Sunday and Monday

In keeping with their purpose; that is, present Rockland folks with the type of entertainment they enjoy, the Park Theatre will venture into a new realm of the motion picture theatre come next Sunday.

This will be the showing of actual movies of the 1949 Maine Lobster and Seafoods Festival, which was successfully sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Rockland Aug. 5, 6 and 7. These movies which were photographed on the spot by the theatre staff contain among other scenes familiar to local citizens; the parade, floats, Public Landing, the Lobster Queen, Governor and civic officials and last, but not least, lots of local folks.

This is the first time that such a venture has been attempted in the Rockland theatres, and although apologies must be made for the touch of non-professionalism in their first movie due to the requiring of special equipment and technique for this type of production, Bill Coffield, theatre manager, announced today that providing local movie patrons show an interest for this type of entertainment, he plans to continue to use the medium in the future via the "Knox County Newsreel" which will present audiences with a complete newsreel coverage on the screen of the Park Theatre of all news events happening in and around this locality. Present plans are for about one newsreel each month.

The Lobster Festival movies will be shown Sunday and Monday at all performances in addition to the regular feature attraction "Joe Palooka in 'Counterpunch,'" starring Leon Errol, Elyse Knox and Joe Kirkwood. Regular prices will prevail throughout the engagement.

PROVED A FALSE ALARM

Passer-By Evidently Mistook Ventilator For Man On Top Of Prison Cell Block

Unusual activity about the Maine State Prison at Thomaston in the early evening hours Wednesday led to rumors of difficulties at the prison which proved groundless.

Warden J. Wallace Lovell explains that a report was received about 7:45 that a man had been seen on the roof of the cell block building by a person passing the institution. He says that all guards were immediately called on duty and a complete check of the Prison made. All inmates were found to be in their proper places by a thorough count conducted by the guards and officials.

Checking for possibilities as to what the person reporting might have seen it was determined that one of the swinging ventilators on the roof could have easily been mistaken for the figure of a man, slightly bent over, as it swung about in the wind.

Crie Store Damaged

The H. H. Crie Co., block suffered heavy damage in the thunder storm of Monday when lightning struck the top of the building on the Main street side. Manager John Rapose describes the damage as being caused by a bolt which struck at the roof level about in the center of the front. The bolt opened the brick wall of the structure down about 10 feet and moved the outer brick facing at the roof outward approximately three inches from the inner layer of brick for a distance of 20 feet along the face of the building.

Old Age Assistance

Total Payments Of $597,547 Have Been Authorized This Year

Old Age Assistance recipients in Maine received more than half a million dollars in August, according to the monthly summary of the Department of Health and Welfare issued today. Total payments authorized were $597,547 for 14,048 cases.

This represents an increase of $141,000 over the corresponding month a year ago and is due largely to the increased maximum voted by the 94th Legislature. The average payment is now $42.10 per month, an increase of $8.35 over August, 1948.

Of particular significance is the fact that the number of applications for this type of assistance increased 99% over Aug. 8, 1948. This is the result of two factors, the impact of unemployment upon the age group of 65 and over and the steady increase in the State's aged population.

In the Aid to Dependent Children category, although the number of families receiving payment and the total payments increased, the average payment per family decreased. The latter was the result of lowered maximum allowances which were placed into effect in July in order to conserve funds to meet the steadily increasing caseload.

The cost of care of the 2433 children in State custody increased 19% over last year as the result of generally higher living costs.

Wants A Woman

Senator Smith Believes the G. O. P. Could Win In '52 With One On the Ticket

Margaret Chase Smith says she will fight to see that some "qualified woman" is nominated for either President or Vice President on the Republican ticket in 1952. But she said she didn't mean that she would seek the nomination herself.

"I will make no effort to get on the 1952 Republican ticket," she said in a radio interview with Commentator Charles Parmer. "I'm definitely not in a fighting mood for myself."

Parmer brought out her statement by remarking that "there is increasing talk" in Washington that the Maine Senator may be the GOP Vice Presidential candidate.

Mrs. Smith, a veteran of many years service in the House of Representatives, was elected to the Senate last year—the first woman ever to be elected to the Senate without previously serving there by appointment.

She predicted that "the party that nominates a woman for Vice President or President will win the 1952 election."

THE COURIER-GAZETTE

Editor, FRANK A. WINSLOW

[EDITORIAL]

ANY WAY TO STOP IT?

Again the nation finds itself in the throes of a coal strike, and it seems to be futile to call attention to the needlessness of it all, to say nothing of the unbelievable cost. The number of workers made jobless by the walkout has passed the 500,000 mark. Included are John L. Lewis' 480,000 United Mine Workers and more than 27,000 rail employees furloughed by a half dozen coal carrying roads. The miners' "no pension no work" revolt is costing them more than $7,000,000 a day in lost wages. Added to this in strike costs is the pay loss of the railroaders. The work stoppage began after John L. Lewis announced failure of Southern operators to continue 20 cent a ton royalty payments to the UMW pension and welfare fund had forced suspension of benefits to aged and ailing miners.

It would seem as if there was enough common sense left in the world to avert such calamities, but apparently there isn't and the costs multiply.

A CHECK FROM THE CELLS

Inmates of the Maine State Prison keep in close touch with the affairs of the world, and are duly sympathetic when occasion requires. This has again been demonstrated by the polio emergency drive which has been conducted in the institution under inmate leadership. This generous and timely spirit, backed by a substantial check, earned the praise of Warden J. Wallace Lovell, as it will that of the world at large.

DEATH OF RADIO STAR

Richard Dix, radio star of other days, has just died in Hollywood, a victim of heart trouble in the prime of life. Dix was in the movies for a quarter of a century, and had the good sense to lay by his earnings, so that since his retirement he had been able to enjoy life on his luxurious ranch in Topanga Canyon.

THE SCHOOL LUNCH FUND

Congress this year appropriated $83,500,000 toward the national school lunch program, and of this amount $424,895 is coming to Maine. Lawrence A. Chatto, State executive officer of the Production and Marketing Administration, said that Maine's receipts will be used to reimburse schools for a part of local purchases for food for the lunches. Chatto points out that the purchases serve to enlarge the market for locally-produced foods.

WOMAN FOR PRESIDENT?

Vincent Sheehan has been calling for a woman as the next President of the United States, and now Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine urges a "qualified woman" as Republican nominee for either President or Vice President in 1952.

Mr. Sheehan thinks a woman president would give the world the assurance it needs that America's intentions are peaceful, and would appeal to the seething millions of Asia, where the mother symbol has always been highly esteemed. Presumably Queen Boadicea of Britain and the Empress Jingo of Japan are sufficiently hidden by the mists of antiquity as not to conjure up the horrifying vision of a possible Amazonian Commandress in Chief. But one question the efficacy of the mother symbol, as exemplified by Queen Victoria, for instance, to quench Asian doubts of western imperialism.

On the domestic front, Senator Smith predicts a victory for the party that nominates a woman for Vice President or President—though she disappointingly withholds her own distinguished name from possible candidacy. The subject is still surrounded with jocularity in most people's minds, as the suffragette issue once was. But we can think of some able women we would vote for far more readily than for some avowed male aspirants, and we suspect that some millions of Americans may feel the same way.—Christian Science Monitor.

Lilac Planning Days

Impressive Ceremonies Will Mark Inauguration At Togus Oct. 12

Lilac Planting Days for the Lilac Memorial being sponsored by the Garden Club Federation of Maine in the new cemetery at the Veterans' Administration Center at Togus will be inaugurated with an impressive ceremony at 2 p. m. on Oct. 12. Col. Malcolm L. Stoddard, manager of the V. A. Center; Charles Pratt, landscape designer and head gardener; and Mrs. Edward F. Merrill of Skowhegan, Garden Federation chairman for the Lilac Memorial are in charge of arrangements for the event.

Col. Stoddard will announce the list of distinguished guests being invited to attend the ceremony. The Garden Federation will be represented by Mrs. Charles W. Eaton of Auburn, federation president, and members of the Federation's executive board.

In addition to several hundred lilac shrubs being given by the federated garden and nature clubs, all veterans organizations, auxiliaries, civic clubs, church societies and individuals are invited to participate in this Living Memorial of Lilacs which will surround the several acres in the new cemetery, by sending as many lilacs as possible, with color of flowers designated, between October 1 and October 15, express prepaid, to Charles Pratt, Togus.

Common purple and white lilacs are needed for the 600 to 1500 shrubs planned for the Memorial. Many of these shrubs have been promised for the October planting, and donations of money sent to Mrs. Merrill will be used to purchase lilacs in quantity from well-known nurseries.

The Garden Club Federation is making a State-wide plea for all organizations to participate with contributions of lilacs or funds for the Lilac Memorial in honor of and in memory of all veterans of World Wars I and II.

An Unique Tour

How Pine Tree State Advertises Itself At Springfield Exposition

The Pine Tree State has been "traveled" extensively this week by many thousands of New England visitors to the State of Maine Building during the current Eastern States Exposition.

The unique tour is the result of ingenious use of color photography combined with a synchronized system of electric bulbs designating principal points of interest on Maine's major inland and coastal routes.

The six-minute Travelogue takes the tourist over a huge illuminated map of Maine to 48 different vacation areas and as the pilot guide reaches a point of interest beautifully colored pictures of that area are flashed on a large screen.

The travelogue feature is a part of the State Highway Commission's exhibit and has proved to be one of the most popular displays in the State of Maine Building with Standing Room at a premium daily.

Another interesting attraction in the Highway exhibit is a scaled model of a large picnic area and lunch ground which many out-of-state visitors have enjoyed in Maine during their vacations.

Additional photographic coverage of Maine—The Land of Remembered vacations—is provided by a large number of Kodachromes, which show many of the state's industrial, agricultural, fisheries and recreational advantages.

A Flying Start

New Senior Unit Of Troop 202, Gets A Favorable Sendoff

An explorer patrol, believed to be the first in this vicinity, composed of boys, 14 through 16, was organized Monday night at its headquarters in the Methodist Church.

Larry Plummer, Rockland High School teacher, a favorite with all the students, has agreed to head the new patrol as senior advisor.

The following officers were appointed and elected: Assistant advisor, Donald Smalley; Crew Leader, Warren Whitney; Assistant Crew Leader, Arthur Doherty, secretary.

The next regular meeting will be held in the Scout room of the church at 6:30 p. m. next Monday.

Troop 202 has a great deal of "new blood," all applying for membership. New recruits include Ronald Orcutt, David Allyn, Richard Trask, Leroy Morey, Robert Merriam, Harold Clark, Willis Kinney, Dava Merrill, Walter Mosley and Richard Whitman.

New patrol officers, elected during patrol meeting are: Coora—Patrol leader, Dale Hughes; Fox, Patrol Leader, Bruce Strong; assistant, David Allyn; Beaver, Leader, Leroy Morey; assistant, Arthur Adolphsen; Wolf, leader, Arthur Doherty; assistant, Emory St. Clair.

VERNE BATTESE WINS

Verne Battese, Sr., of Damariscotta, won the Third Annual Small Bore tournament, Class C, at the Lincoln County Rifle Club range in Damariscotta Sunday. The tournament was under the auspices of the Bath Rifle and Pistol Association. Battese's score was 1190-57. Tournament officers were Phil S. Staley, Bath, executive officer; A. Duncan Bragg, Bath range officer; and Arthur Hall, Bath, statistical officer. Thirty were entered in the matches.

"You, too, may get back nothing but buttons—campaign buttons—if you put your faith in government bureaus instead of looking out for your own future needs."

More than half (51.4%) of the families in the U. S. haven't waited for a Federal housing agency to build them a home. They own their own. In fact, since the war began there has been an increase of 25% in home ownership.

A year ago, in 1947 for example, two million two hundred thousand people bought homes at an average price of $7500-$8500. 880,000 of these homes were purchased by veterans. Over 4/5 of a million of these new home owners earned less than $3000. per year.

The Weather

We are in the third consecutive day of that "much needed" material known as rain. And while I am on that damp subject, I will call attention to the high tides which will be in effect for several days. Autumn begins tomorrow, but you will have to be up early in the morning if you chance to be on the reception committee.

Dr. C. Harold Jameson will be in attendance at the meetings of the New England Surgical Society at the Mt. Washington Hotel, Bretton Woods, New Hampshire, the last two days of this week.

Edward R. Ladd has been elected a member of the executive committee of the Maine Association of Insurance Agents for three years.

At the 59th annual convention of the Maine Association of Insurance Agents in Rangeley, A. B. Stevenson was elected third vice president.

Vincent D'Agostino leaves tomorrow for Miami, Fla., where he will resume his vocation as barber.

The five employees of Carr's Automotive Supplies will enjoy the long week-end of the Jewish New Year observance with pay, as is the custom of Mr. Carr. The store will be closed from sunset Friday, 4 p. m., and all day Saturday and Sunday. Business as usual on Monday.

Standard time again becomes the law of the land next Sunday morning at 2 o'clock but the proper thing to do is to set your timepieces back one hour before you retire. From now on, until the days get much shorter, you will eat your breakfast by daylight, but darkness will overtake the washing of the supper dishes. But it's well to remember that the days will again be lengthening before many weeks have passed.

A visitor in the city yesterday was True Hayford of Detroit, Mich., who served as deputy warden at the Maine State Prison during the first decade of the 20th Century, when Fred B. Wiggins of Saco was warden. Mr. Hayford was long an employee at the Ford plant, but is on the retired list. He inquired for many old acquaintances including A. C. McLoon, against whom he played football in their High School days. Hayford was a member of the Belfast High School team which had never lined up until it came here to play Rockland. This is probably one of the prime reasons why the Belfast outfit was beaten 116 to 0.

General Seafoods fillet plant has started delivery of redfish and groundfish cuttings to lobster whole salers for re-sale to lobster fishermen for bait. This action, brought about by a discussion between Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries Richard R. Reed and President Larry Alphen of General Seafoods last week, has resulted in relieving the critical lobster bait shortage locally for the time being. Usually the waste cuttings are shipped to fish meal plants, a practice which nets a greater return than bait sales. Scarcity of herring waste from the sardine plants this Summer and the practice of using cuttings for fish meal left the lobstermen without sufficient bait at a time when lobsters were becoming more plentiful than they had been for months.

Knox County Camera Club members enjoyed a slide show presented by High School teacher Edmund Barnard at Farnsworth Museum Tuesday night. Barnard will show motion pictures at the meeting of Oct. 4 of an expedition to the Galapagos Islands in 1941. William W. Cross president of the club, appointed Forest Pinkerton, Carroll Thayer Berry and Edmund Barnard to a committee which will present a list of candidates for officers at the next meeting.

A Coastal Warden became a probation officer for five Waldoboro and Cushing clam diggers in court Wednesday as Recorder Alfred Strout lifted 30-day jail sentences imposed on the quintet and gave them probation for two years.

Pleading guilty to digging clams in a restricted area in the Georges River were Walter Barkley of Cushing, Eugene Winchenbach, Paul Winchenbach, Ralph Winchenbach and Carl Creamer all of Waldoboro. Fines of $20 were imposed in addition to the jail sentence. Coastal Warden Donald Hickey was named as special probation officer for the men.

"Should Be Grateful"
New Jersey Teacher Speaks Of New South School In Highest Praise
Secretary Robert W. Hudson of the Rockland School District Trustees has received an interesting letter from a New Jersey educator who had an opportunity to inspect the new South School, just prior to its opening this month. Miss Eleanor Noyes, who is attached to the office of the Superintendent of Schools of Essex County, N. J., as a guidance teacher, makes the following comments on the South School in her letter.
"I wish to thank you for making it possible for me to view Rockland's new South School. The evening was both enjoyable and educative.
"The building is of the functional type which we professionals in the Essex County are very interested in seeing constructed but find the school architects, local boards and laymen reluctant to accept. You have excellent facilities for an elementary unit. How you secured as much as you did at the cost you quoted is really beyond my experience.
"May I compliment your Board of Trustees for planning "from the inside out" rather than by the reverse method so commonly used? Facilities for the learning process are so much more fundamental than exterior design.
"The lighting and color dynamics used in the building deserve special mention. Often children and teachers work under conditions that are far from conducive to healthful rich living.
"The citizens of Rockland should be grateful to the School District Trustees for the time and effort given in providing them with such an outstanding school building. If the staff of the South School provides learning situations equal in vitality to the facilities of the building, the children will be fortunate indeed.
Eleanor Noyes,

How to Choose Asparagus And How Best to Keep It

Asparagus is one of the green vegetables and, therefore, is a good source of minerals and vitamins. The consumer buying asparagus should know what qualities to look for when making a purchase. She should look for stalks that are green for most of their length, that are not too thin, and tips that are compact and firm.

Most asparagus is cut a little below the ground surface as soon as the spear is six to 10 inches long. If growth has been rapid, the entire green stalk will be tender and only the white portion somewhat tougher.

Unless it is kept under refrigeration, or in a cool, dark place, it deteriorates rather rapidly after it is cut; the tips spread, and the stalks tend to become woody.

If wilted asparagus is allowed to stand in a small pan with the butt ends in cold water, it will freshen somewhat although only the tips may prove to be edible. Very slender stalks are apt to be tough and stringy because of their slower growth.

If bunches look fresh when purchased, a large bunch may be a more economical buy than a small bunch big enough for only one meal. But the stalks not used immediately must be stored in the refrigerator or some other cool, dark place.

Streptomycin Not Cure-All, Tuberculosis Expert Says

Streptomycin is the most effective and least toxic drug for treating tuberculosis, but it is not a cure-all, and, if used indiscriminately, may endanger the patient, Dr. Karl H. Pfuetze warned members of the Illinois state medical society.

Since its discovery four years ago, streptomycin—a drug derived from a fungus found in the soil—has been tested in the laboratory and used clinically in medicine's fight against diseases due to bacteria, particularly tuberculosis.

Streptomycin has been found especially effective, Dr. Pfuetze said, in tuberculosis infection of the mouth, throat, vocal chords, bronchial tubes, sinuses, and of the lining of the intestines and abdominal wall.

The drug is most useful in recent, acute phases of pulmonary tuberculosis, when suppression of the infection for a more or less limited period of time enables the patient to muster his natural forces of defense and gain the upper hand.

Streptomycin should not be used when the patient's chances of recovery are good without it, because this same patient may have greater need of chemotherapy at a later time, should he develop a more serious form of tuberculosis.

Early Days of Express Companies

Modern express has transported about everything from a baby chick to a 3,000-pound elephant and from a crate of lettuce to a hoghead of tobacco. In one year, more than 200 million items are shipped by express. But it has not always been smooth sailing for express companies. Silas Tyler, early New England expressman, used a trailer car attached to the rear of the Boston & Lowell railroad's passenger trains, while William F. Harnden, the first expressman, began business with a carpet bag, paying his fare wherever he went on his rounds. On April 3, 1880, little Johnny Frey, first pony express rider, set off from St. Joseph, Mo., on the first lap of the pony express route to Sacramento, Calif.

New Duck Stamp Issue

Buffle-head ducks grace the new 1948 migratory bird hunting stamp, which shows two male and one female buffle-heads in flight. The stamp, which sells for $1.00, is the 15th in the series issued annually to help provide funds to help finance the federal government's wild life refuge program. Ninety per cent of the funds realized from the sale of the stamps is used by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service to supplement other funds for the purchase and maintenance of waterfowl refuges throughout the country. The remaining 10 per cent is to be used for printing and distribution of the stamps, enforcement of the migratory bird hunting stamp act, and other federal activities for migratory bird conservation.

Uncle Sam Says

The first oil well was drilled in 1859, ninety years ago. Drilling is still going on even under the ocean. Occasionally one of those well bursts into flame and "up in smoke" go much of the profits. Much the same thing happens when many of my nephews and nieces allow their money to burn holes in their pockets. Your government offers a safe, sure way of holding on to some of that pay check. That is through the Payroll Savings Plan for the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds.

Cracks Russian's World Speed Record

EUGENE STILES, 17, of Alameda, Calif., received a special invitation to Plymouth Motor Corp's Third International Model Plane contest at Detroit Aug. 22-29 from R. C. Somerville, general sales manager of Plymouth, after breaking world's model plane straight-line speed record. Stiles flew his plane 81 MPH, beating a 9-year-old Russian-held record by 15 MPH. Russian model plane fliers, who had monopolized records, still hold championships for endurance, altitude, and distance. Stiles is first American title-holder for straight-line speed.

CHAPTER I. Andy Ives, tired of working as a hardware store clerk for 20 years, takes a grant of free land offered by the state to those people who will live there at least two years and cultivate the property. His wife, Kate, daughter Hope, son Dave and mother-in-law "Granny," are enthused by the move.

CHAPTER II. Hope rejects a proposal of marriage by Wall Harbison.

CHAPTER III. The family arrives at its new home, only slightly worried about the extreme wilderness. They are greeted by Emerson Elliot.

CHAPTER IV. Andy and Dave look over their land the next morning and prepare themselves for the huge task of clearing it for productive planting.

CHAPTER V. Mr. and Mrs. Webster, a nearby family, stop by to greet the Ives.

CHAPTER VI. During the night the family is awakened by the lights of a car. Andy investigates and is accosted by several inebriated men from town who are resentful of the fact that Andy's home was used formerly by them as a camp place.

CHAPTER VII. Andy and Dave go into Newstead where the former is warned by Watson Bird, hardware merchant, to be careful of Sig Flanagan, one of the hunters who called on Andy the previous evening. Andy sells his car for some mules and a cart. Upon his return home he learns that during his absence Sig Flanagan, on pretense of shooting a deer, shot buckshot into the wall of the Ives' cabin.

CHAPTER VIII. Andy brings his problem to the sheriff but finds he is a friend of Flanagan's and gets nowhere with his complaints.

CHAPTER IX. The next day the Websters return, bringing with them their 16-year-old daughter, Oreen.

CHAPTER X. The next day, the Websters return, bringing with them their 16-year-old daughter, Oreen.

CHAPTER XI. Elliot stops by to tell Andy that the Newstead hunters have killed a doe and planted it on his property. After darkness sets in, the game warden plans to come out, point out the "evidence" and arrest Andy for shooting illegal game. Bigelow Halleck, a handsome young neighbor, stops to offer the use of his cows. Hope is immediately attracted by him.

CHAPTER XI

"It's the game warden," Andy said. "Get down, Mr. Bragg. We can talk by the fire, where it's warm." He mustn't let Bragg know that he knew anything was up.

"Hi, Sam," Mr. Flipp greeted the officer. "How's tricks?"

"O.K., Flipp," the warden replied briefly. "Mr. Ives, we can't sit by the fire and talk the kind of business I came to talk with you. Get your hat and coat, I've got something to show you."

"That so?" Andy inquired. "Where is it? What are you talking about?"

"Somebody shot a doe this afternoon, late. It's hid on your land. I come to find out about it. You got a hunting license?"

"No. Why, man, I've never shot a deer in my life."

"Get your hat and coat," the warden repeated. "We'll have to look into this thing. Shooting a doe is serious. It's worse without a license."

"Where's the doe?" Mr. Flipp asked.

"I'm dealing with Ives," said the warden. "You keep out of this."

"For a man your age," said Absalom Flipp, "you ain't learned a lot of peritiveness."

"What is it, Andy?" Kate called from the door. "Who shot a deer?"

"That seems to be the question," Andy said. He turned back to the house.

"Is he here to arrest someone?" Kate asked excitedly.

"No, ma'am, not yet," the warden answered. "Hurry up, Ives."

Mr. Eliot drained his coffee cup and pushed back his chair. "A delightful supper, Mrs. Ives. Indeed, a—"

"What's wrong?" Kate broke in. "What is it, Mr. Eliot? There's something Andy hasn't told me."

"There's no time to discuss it now," he told her. "You'll have the full story later this evening. We must go now."

"Can I help?" asked Big Halleck. "What's going on here?"

"Come on," Dave said. "I'll give you the score as we go through the woods."

The men went from the house together. Andy carried a lighted lantern.

"I won't need any of you but Ives," the warden said sharply.

"The rest of you stay here."

"Now, Sam," Mr. Flipp drawled. "Ain't you gittin' a little out of hand? What law says we can't walk these woods at night?"

The warden sputtered angrily, but realized that he had wandered out of the bounds of his authority.

"All right, come on, then," he growled. "I'll make you wish you hadn't been born a smart aleck someday, though, Ab Flipp!"

"Now, now," Mr. Eliot said, chuckling softly, "all of this has no bearing on the question of the moment."

"Get ahead of me with the light," ordered the officer, "and go southwest. Flipp, you know where that sassafras thicket is, down near the corner of this quarter section. Lead the way."

"Sure," said Absalom. "Glad to help out any way I can."

When they were near the thicket, the warden pushed ahead.

"Bring the lantern," he ordered. "The doe is hid here." He swung off his horse, handed the reins to Dave. "Hold him, boy."

Andy gave him the lantern and followed. His heart was racing, more with rage than with fear. He had never been framed in any way; it was a low moment.

The warden stopped abruptly and muttered a curse. He wheeled on Andy. "So, you've sneaked it away from here, have you? Where is that doe?"

"I don't know anything about the doe," Andy said, fighting for calm.

"You're the one that seems to know a lot about it. Where was the doe?"

"Right here," the warden pointed. "Look, there's blood. There's where the deer was laying; you see the grass mashed down. Where—Ab Flipp, did you take that deer out of this thicket?"

"No, Sam, you know I wouldn't steal nobody's deer, don't you? Would you like to search my cabin?"

"Or mine?" Andy invited. "I'll let you look all you please."

The warden looked from one to the other. He was white; his mouth worked slowly, but no words came.

"I'll get at the bottom of this!" he said in a voice that shook with mingled emotions.

TO WED A MISSOURIAN

Major and Mrs. Elmer E. Barde Announce the Engagement of Daughter

Beatrice Barde and her fiancé, Joe Shaver

Major and Mrs. Elmer E. Barde of Arlington, Virginia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beatrice Marie, to Joe Meridith Shaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin Shaver of Sikeston, Missouri. Miss Barde is well known in this community as she has spent several summers at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. House of Camden Road.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Christian College for Women, Columbia, Missouri, and a member of Beta Beta and Phi Theta Kappa. Miss Barde is currently enrolled at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, where she is pursuing her studies in the field of music education.

Mr. Shaver graduated from the University of Missouri where he was a member of Alpha Pi Zeta, Delta Sigma Pi and Beta Gamma Sigma. He is now employed as an accountant for Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey at Baton Rouge, Louisiana. During the war Mr. Shaver served two years with the Army of the Pacific.

The wedding date has not been announced.

Early Thanksgiving

Why Personal Finance Company Is Observing It In September

You won't find a turkey with all the trimmings—nor will you encounter a group of youngsters in outlandish costumes but it's "Thanksgiving" all the same at all Personal Finance Company offices. "You see," explained the Yes Man, when we asked him about this paradox of Thanksgiving in September, "for nine years we've been setting aside September as Customer Appreciation month—our 'Thanksgiving' for Rockland folk who have selected Personal as the company they want to do business with. It's the month when we put into words the thanks we've felt during the entire year. It's the month when we try to do something nice for our customers—something outside the scope of our normal activities.

"I'm selfish enough to hope," continued the genial Yes Man, "that every citizen in Rockland takes me up on my invitation to visit our offices in September and help us to share in the spirit of the occasion. The more folks—whether customers or not—that come in to say 'Hello' during September—the more of a success I'll consider our celebration Appreciation Month."

To properly get folks in the mood for Customer Appreciation month, gay banners decorate the walls of Personal offices; "Thank You" pen-

Congo Church Chat

Mrs. Leona Phillips, assisted by Miss Marie Whalen and Miss Nellie Brann, was in charge of nursery care Sunday. Miss Whalen operated the projector and Miss Brann read the script for the color presentation of the story, "Moses."

Harold Greene rendered Molatte's "Lord's Prayer" during the service at the Congregational Church, while the full quartette, Mrs. Esther Howard, Mrs. Nettie Bird Frost, Mr. Greene and Charles Rose sang his first anthem "Laudamus" by Protheroe.

Nineteen young people gathered for the first meeting of the Comrades of the Way at the Congregational Church Sunday night. Meeting with the group for the first time were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hybels, advisors to the group this year. Plans were made to journey to Bald Rock next Sunday afternoon, with the Camden Congregational Youth Group as guests. Vespers will be a part of the program.

Boy Scout Troop 206 meets Monday night at 6.30 to go to Glen Cove on a cook-out. Plans will be discussed for getting their parents out in full for the "County Fair" to be held at the Penobscot View Grange Hall Sept. 30, at 7.30. A prize will be offered to the Troop getting the largest number of adults there. This is one Scout event where the boys do not attend, but send their parents and friends instead.

Business Girls of the Congregational Church will meet at the Church on Wednesday at 7.30 for election of officers for the Fall and a meeting which will include the Winter period.

Next Sunday will be a big day at the Congregational Church when pupils for the 1949-1950 session of Church School are registered. The Rally Day program will include the hushing of babies, and perfect attendance awards will be made for the 1948-49 season.

A special church meeting will be held next Sunday to elect delegates to this church to the annual meeting of Congregational Churches in this area to be held on Oct. 4, at South Bristol, and to the annual Maine Council of Churches session to be held at Augusta on Oct. 6.

The detailed program has been received for the Northern New England Area conference on "The National United Evangelistic Advance" to which Rev. Charles R. Monteith, pastor of the local Congregational Church, has been invited because of his membership on the committee on Evangelism and the Devotional Life of the Congregational Conference of Maine. The conference will be held in Concord, N. H., Sept. 27 and 28. Mr. Monteith will accompany other members of the State Conference to Concord.

GETTING DOWN TO CASES

Republicans Will Talk Straight From Shoulder At the Auburn Conference Oct. 1

Maine Republicans from the seven counties of the Second Congressional District will hold a party conference at the Elm Hotel, Auburn, Saturday, Oct. 1.

All Republicans will be welcome to participate in discussions of party policies and hear from top-flight G.O.P. leaders.

U.S. Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Representative Charles P. Nelson and Gov. Frederick G. Payne will attend address conferences at a noon luncheon, and lead a panel on State and National problems during the afternoon. Senator Owen Brewster is expected to be present, provided he is able to return from Europe at that date.

Feature of the all-day session will be round table discussions, town meeting style, at 11 a. m., and 2 p. m., on problems of the Legislature, finance, Republican women, county officers, and county-town committees. The conference will open at 10 a. m. with a meeting for Young Republicans. All in attendance will be urged to voice their opinions and make suggestions for promoting party strength and harmony.

Chairmen for panel committees include Mrs. E. May Chapman, Belfast; Representative Leonard F. Williams, Auburn; James L. Reid, Augusta; Linwood E. Palmer, Jr., Nobleboro; and Judge Alonzo Conant, Auburn.

G.O.P. Chairman Alan L. Bird of Rockland, head of the conference committee, expressed its aim as follows:

"We need to talk over party principles and their application to county, state and national problems. We need to re-examine our organization to see how we may encourage new membership and greater participation by younger voters and women.

What should our State platform be? Our stand as to tax structure and state support of education? Free discussion and exchange of ideas are of fundamental form of government and the vigor of our political party."

Mrs. Selma M. Wagg of Lisbon and Harold L. Redding of Lewiston are co-chairmen of the conference. Knox County members of the committee planning the Conference are: Bird, Senator Cleveland Sleeper, Jr., Representative Frederic H.

Evoked A Parody

The Rockland Gazette was owned by Vose and Porter, Tom Barker was Porter's nephew.

The Baptist Church had a revival employing Pratt and Birdsall. It was said Birdsall had an unsavory stage experience and that each afternoon meeting here, he'd go into a Main street saloon and imbibe in a glass of forbidden liquor. Hence Tom, a High School boy, wrote and sang this parody on a well known college song:

I wish I had a barrel of rum and sugar 300 pound
The Baptist bell to mix it in and the clapper to stir it round—
I'd drink the health of Hartwell Pratt and the fellow that sings so queer.
He's a rambling wreck of a minstrel show and a son of a gun for beer.

Lillian S. Copping

EAST FRIENDSHIP

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fales left Sunday on a two-weeks' motor trip. Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Carlson of Garrison Island are acting store managers during their absence.

Mrs. Mary Hopkins is guest of friends in Thomaston and Warren. Mrs. Addie Jones of Thomaston. Mrs. Ray Vose and children of Pleasant Point were guests Sunday of Frank Miller. Other recent guests were, Ed. Ripley and Mr. and Mrs. Emery Philbrook of Matineux.

Mrs. Eula Coombs of Cushing is employed at Roscoe Marshall's. Edith Dingley of Malden, Mass., is visiting Mrs. Ethel Blackford.

MY WAY

None deny
That I am I,
My path was made for me.
Let me live,
My best to give.
An do it all for Thee.
This is my way,
From day to day,
The best is yet to be.

Mary Morgan Ware.

Looking Backward

Events Of 1904, As Compiled For This Paper By James Burns

Sept. 22

Captain Archibald of the Steamer Monhegan reported that there was considerable anxiety in the vicinity of Boothbay Harbor and Round Pond for the safety of several of the Porgy steamers which went out last week before the storm and had not been heard from.

On the cars of the R.T.&C. Street Railway to-day each car was in charge of a lady to collect fares. The entire receipts of the day were turned over to the Knox Hospital. The young lady conductors were: Lella Winchenbach, Alta McCoy, Tina Jameson, Mollie Jameson, Beth Washburn, and Annabel Williams of Thomaston, Geneva Sherman and Marion Wadsworth of Camden, Georgie Stetson, Rockport; Gladys Jones, Myrtle Doe, Annie Blackington, Alice Webb, Belle Donahue, Emma Cobb, Abbie Bird, Mattie Simmons, Martha Cobb, Lena Thordike and Caro Littlefield of Rockland.

DEVALUATION OF THE POUND

Has Turned Financial World Topsy-Turvy—What It Means To Americans

The value of the American dollar has been raised in huge key areas of the world. But the place where the change will be felt the least, probably, for some time is the store where you trade at home.

The dollar buys more goods today in 11 countries and the list grows by the hour. That means if you have a bushel of wheat, a bale of cotton, or a ton of steel to sell in these countries, you should be able—theoretically—to get more for them in the form of Australian wool, Scotch whiskey, Irish linen, Malayan rubber and tin, South African diamonds, Indian burlap, African cocoa, Egyptian long-staple cotton.

But there's a catch in that one, too. Maybe two or three.

For one thing, most of these countries have strict limits on the amount of American goods they let in. Chances are they'll be buying less of your goods than before. The main idea of devaluation gives them the chance and the excuse. After all, they'll tell American traders around the world is to sell you goods, not to buy yours.

Second, the goods you have for sale cost more now than the competitive goods of the sterling area in the world markets. Just last week it was the other way around. Britain couldn't sell here because her products cost too much. Now it is your goods that overnight have been priced up, because theirs came down.

It's going to be harder than ever for you to sell in world markets. That may pile up some goods here at home. And that could lead either to lower prices here, or less production which means fewer jobs.

Third, from now on the boys are playing for keeps. They're out to capture the world market wherever they can. They have a definite eye on the wealthiest market of all—her in the United States. They want American dollars, and want them badly.

Willing to pay 18 cents for Malayan natural rubber and $1.03 a in the 20-months-old class. The upper part of Sea street was being treated to a much needed coat of limerock chips.

October 6

The Meguntcook Woolen Co. of Camden was petitioned into bankruptcy.

At the dog show at Pleasant Valley Grange, Arthur Haines' rabbit hound received first prize, C. A. Moore second, and R. M. Packard third.

pound for tin last week, they may figure that they aren't compelled to lower their asking prices on rubber and tin just because the American dollar theoretically ought to buy more of them today than it did last week.

The price of rubber has already been raised 20 per cent in terms of the Malayan dollar.

Therefore, if we were willing to pay 18 cents per pound of our money for Malayan natural rubber and $1.03 a pound for tin last week, they may figure that they aren't compelled to lower their asking prices on rubber and tin, just because the American dollar theoretically ought to buy more of them today than it did last week.

The price of rubber already has been raised 20 per cent in terms of the Malayan dollar. It was the drop of American synthetic rubber to 18 cents a pound that forced Malayan prices to that level. They've wanted to raise the price of natural rubber for some time. Devaluation gives them the chance and the excuse. After all, they'll tell American traders it will cost you no more—in dollars.

But there are certain goods that may come down in price in American stores, when currency adjustments are made. American importers are known to have been delaying buying of British goods for several months in expectation of a cheaper pound.

A flood of these goods may hit the market in coming weeks, to take advantage of the short term profits to be made from the cut in the pound. Textile importers have said that American orders on British books are large—orders that were marked "hold for devaluation."

SEARSMONT

Mrs. Anna Shure of Highland Park, N. J., who has been spending the Summer at her home here entertained for tea recently a group of friends and neighbors. The guests were Mrs. Ann Pollett, Mrs. Albert Berry both of Montville, Mrs. James Burkill, Miss Eldora Harriman both of Liberty, Mrs. Elizabeth Gray, Mrs. Ben Talenbloom, Mrs. James Wixon, Mrs. Harriet E. Knight and Mrs. Russell B. Knight all of Searsmont. Mrs. Shure's son Melvin and his wife Selma, who are here from New Jersey. Mrs. Cora Hutchins has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Knight and family, after spending several weeks with her daughter in Vassellboro.

British woollens and worsteds, gloves, chinaware, leather products, even Scotch whiskey may be bought cheaper than formerly. But don't count these chickens before they are hatched. The British can raise their prices on them.

In time, they may have to because their costs of living are going up. There will be an immediate hike in the price of bread in Britain. Demand for wage boosts can be expected after that. Cost of production would rise, and so would their prices. Britain is going to have to watch out or they'll start another inflation spiral there. To take advantage of the new higher purchasing power of your dollar you will have to buy something in the sterling area. Or go there as a tourist, before their prices rise. The dollar will be tops for tourists for awhile.

Meanwhile the American dollar is the acknowledged world leader today. Years ago it was the pound that sat on the world financial throne. Today your dollar is the important thing everywhere—and it is worth more in many countries today than it was just last week.

No Sand is Free

By W. T. PERSON

CHAPTER I. Andy Ives, tired of working as a hardware store clerk for 20 years, takes a grant of free land offered by the state to those people who will live there at least two years and cultivate the property. His wife, Kate, daughter Hope, son Dave and mother-in-law "Granny," are enthused by the move.

CHAPTER II. Hope rejects a proposal of marriage by Wall Harrison.

CHAPTER III. The family arrives at its new home, only slightly worried about the extreme wilderness. They are greeted by Emerson Elliot.

CHAPTER IV. Andy and Dave look over their land the next morning and prepare themselves for the huge task of clearing it for productive planting.

CHAPTER V. Mr. and Mrs. Webster, a nearby family, stop by to greet the Ives.

CHAPTER VI. During the night the family is awakened by the lights of a car. Andy investigates and is accosted by several inebriated men from town who are resentful of the fact that Andy's home was used formerly by them as a camping place.

CHAPTER VII. Andy and Dave go into Newcastle where the former is warned by Watson Bird, hardware merchant, to be careful of Sig Flanagan, one of the hunters who called on Andy the previous evening. Andy sells his car for some money and a cart. Upon his return home he learns that during his absence Sig Flanagan, on pretense of shooting a deer, shot buckshot into the wall of the cabin.

CHAPTER VIII. Andy brings his problem to the sheriff but finds he is a friend of Flanagan's and gets nowhere with his complaints.

CHAPTER IX. The next day, the Websters return, bringing with them their 16-year-old daughter, Green.

CHAPTER X

"Bigelow Halleck's his name. But don't let it be said that I've weaved you 'gainst him, for his mother and I are awful good friends. Big—we all call him Big for short—was a good boy till he got interested in a girl in Newcastle. That was when he was the basketball star there, an' this girl—she's Virgie Winslow, the mayor's daughter—turned his head with her notice, an' he fell mightily in love with her. He thought she was the most wonderful thing in the world, an' she was the mayor's daughter too, you see. So when he found out that she wasn't playin' fair with him, it broke him all up inside an' he took the notion that all girls are like her. She learned him a lot. Well, when the basketball season was over an' Big wasn't starlin' in anything, she dropped him like a hot brick. She started goin' with a town boy an' when Big finally found out it hit him hard an' he's acted different towards girls ever since then. Don't have no faith in 'em it would seem. Since his disappointment in Virgie, Big's been the kind that don't take no girl serious." She shook her head, added sadly: "I just couldn't sleep a wink if Green was out with him. Mercy, no!"

When the Websters left, Dave made a point of being very busy elsewhere, and it wasn't until he heard the pickup roar away that he returned to the house, more or less furiously.

"You aren't very gallant," Hope said. "I'll serve you right if Green never looks at you again."

"That'll be too soon," Dave snapped.

Mr. Webster came early the next morning, bringing his frow for riving out shingles, and soon the work was progressing rapidly.

Two more homesteaders came by that afternoon and helped for a time. They were Mr. Buckley, a short, wiry man of indeterminate age, and Mr. Wallace, who was rangy, red-haired, and freckled. The work moved faster. Andy and Mr. Webster would drive to Newcastle in the morning for two-by-fours and the material for the well.

The sun was almost down when Bugler's roaring announced someone's approach. Andy left the chair at the right of the fireplace, where he had been resting, and went to the door.

It was Mr. Elliot. He was walking fast. His right arm swung in time with his quick, short steps, but his left arm hung still, as if it wished no part in either the man's haste or the tempo of his walking.

"What's your hurry?" Andy called. "Come in."

"Hello," Mr. Elliot said crisply. He was undeniably excited. It was in his eyes, which were bright and quick behind the heavy-rimmed glasses; it was on his round face, and in the stern set of his usually gentle mouth. "Perhaps we'd better talk out here," he said, casting a furtive look toward the woods to the south.

"What's up?" Andy asked, going out to meet him. "Anything happened to Mr. Flipp?"

"No." Mr. Elliot puffed a few times, recovering from his fast walk. "We are of the opinion that something is about to happen to you."

"That so?" Andy looked at him wonderingly. "What are you talking about, Mr. Elliot?"

Any Tactics However Spurious

"Mr. Flipp returned to our cabin a few minutes ago, from setting some traps, and found me deeply engrossed with an intricate chess problem. I've often attempted to interest Mr. Flipp in chess, but he refuses to see the beauty and depth of its infinite combinations; he prefers checkers, I regret to add. However, that is neither here nor there. He came in from setting his traps and asked me to come and tell you not to go near the southwest corner of your place tonight."

Andy blinked. "Why? I wouldn't have any business down there tonight—but why?"

Dave came out then, curious as to the purpose of Mr. Elliot's visit.

"The reason for my warning is this," Mr. Elliot said. "Someone has killed a young doe and planted it on your property."

Andy started in surprise. "Why, the dirty, sneaking—"

"Mr. Flipp caught a fleeting glimpse of a rider leaving that part of your quarter section. He was unable to recognize the man, but he did note that it was not a black horse."

"So, they'd try to frame me for killing a doe!" Andy mused. "Why, I've been busy here all day; I haven't shot a gun since coming out here; I don't have a hunting license. Of all the—"

"Mr. Flipp reasons—and I think his mental processes are sound in this instance—that the warden will come here before long and inform you of what he has discovered, to wit, the dead doe. It may be troublesome."

"They'd have to prove something, though," Andy pointed out.

"The warden would say that none of the hunters could have killed the doe there, for they have been much farther to the southwest all day. He would say that you shot the deer and left it there until after dark before bringing it to the house in stealth. He would say—"

"Maybe he would say all these things," Andy broke in, "but that's not proof. Why, what chance would I have had to kill the doe? Another thing, why would the doe have been down there, open to a shot, when the hunters were so far away?"

"Oh, when the hounds are running, the deer are excited, and they appear almost anywhere. Mr. Flipp is in concealment not far from the doe, watching to see the warden make the 'discovery.'"

"Let's go down there," Dave put in quickly. "And drag the doe off our land. We could throw it into the bayou and—"

Mr. Elliot raised a hand for silence. "No. Positively not! It may be that someone is down there on watch, and if you go near the deer your case will become even more dangerous and complicated. If you touch the deer, then your accusers will be in a position to substantiate the accusation that you shot it and then waited for dusk or darkness before bringing it to the house. Don't go near it."

Andy shook his head slowly. "I didn't think they were that low-down! I didn't think—"

"Of course not," Mr. Elliot agreed gently. "Nor did I. We are idealists, Mr. Ives. It is an unfortunate mention. When the Websters left, Dave made a point of being very busy elsewhere, and it wasn't until he heard the pickup roar away that he returned to the house, more or less furiously.

to—

"Say," Dave cut in, "there comes somebody now. Mr. Flipp, isn't it?"

They looked and saw the tall, narrow figure of Absalom Flipp taking shape out of the darkness of the woods. He was walking faster than usual. Jessie Bell ambled along behind him. Bugler bellowed at the shadowy figure, then caught sight of his mother and ran to meet her.

"Evenin'," all, Mr. Flipp greeted them placidly. "Yes'm, Miz Ives, we'll take supper with you, an' thanks."

"Good!" Kate said. "I'll set another place."

"Let's go in," Absalom said calmly as Andy started to question him. "They'll be more comin' 'fore long, an' nobody here ain't s'posed to know nothin' wrong. Caucusin' out here might look s'picious."

whom Andy hadn't seen before. He was getting down from his horse as Andy stepped out the door, and in the dim lamplight that came through the door, he looked handsome and well set up. His shoulders were broad and heavy, and he towered a full head taller than Andy.

"You're Mr. Ives?" he asked pleasantly, coming toward Andy. "My name's Halleck, Bigelow Halleck. They call me Big."

"I'm Andy Ives. Glad to meet you, Mr.—"

"No 'Mr.', the visitor cut in. "Make it just Big, without the handle."

"Come in and have supper with us, Big," Andy invited.

"I'll warm a little; cold riding. I've had supper. Thanks. In case you wonder what I'm doing here this time of night, Mr. Buckley said you're looking for a good cow to milk."

"Sure, come right in. We'll talk about it. Better have a cup of coffee."

"All right. I will. I'd warm me up," he stooped as he went through the door.

Hope Is Stunned At Seeing Big

Hope was taking up hot biscuits as Big Halleck entered the kitchen. She straightened up, her face flushed from oven heat, and almost dropped the pan. Then she realized that she was staring at him, and turned quickly to the table, where Granny was holding the plate for her. He was so big! His eyes were the clearest, deepest blue she had ever seen, and there was about him, all of him, a look of warm strength. His thick yellow hair gleamed in the lamplight, and when he grinned, a little embarrassed by facing so many strangers all at once, she saw that his teeth were white and strong and regular. And when he looked at her as Andy said, "My daughter, Hope," she scarcely heard her father's words, for Big Halleck's eyes were level and steady and intense, and there was something deep-laid in them that made her feel a strange weakness.

"Come to see me about a cow," Andy explained. "Pour him a cup of coffee, Kate. Here, Big, sit in my chair; I'll bring in another."

Then Hope remembered. Mrs. Webster had told them about Big Halleck, of how he had been embittered by the mayor's fickle daughter!

"Glad to meet you all," said the young man. "Hi, Mr. Elliot, Mr. Flipp."

Granny shot a look at Hope, for she too was remembering Birdie Webster's account.

"Hi, Big," said Mr. Flipp. "Glad you come. These folks need a cow. Pass the biscuits, Dave."

Again, the hounds were roaring and barking. Andy knew it must be the warden now. He hurried to the door.

"Get down and come in," he called. "Just in time for supper."

"Thanks," the rider said, remaining on his horse. "I'm on business. You Andy Ives?"

"That's right," Andy said. "I'm Sam Bragg, game warden of this district."

"Shet up, Jessie Bell!" roared Mr. Flipp from the door. "Who is it, Andy?" he asked innocently.

Minturn Boy Serving

David Lawry Is On Harbor Patrol Duty In Yokohama

With the Eighth Army in Yokohama, Japan, Sept. 9—Private David S. Lawry, son of Austin Turne of Minturn, is now serving on harbor patrol duty with the 347th Transportation Harbor Craft Company.

Stationed in Yokohama, Japan's major port city and seat of the headquarters of the Eighth Army, Private Lawry is filling an essential job with the Army's Occupational Forces here. His company operates the several types of harbor craft required to provide police and traffic control in the Army operated port.

To occupy his leisure hours, he has access to theatres, clubs, libraries, evening classes, a gymnasium, bowling alleys, volleyball and tennis courts, a golf course, as well as the picturesque scenery of this ancient country.

Entering the Army in March, 1948, he arrived in this theater in June of the same year. He attended Minturn school.

Comes An Interesting Letter From A Former Nazarene Pastor In Union

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

When I lived in Union I recall that I used to enjoy reading letters in your paper from people who had moved to other parts of the nation. Thinking that some of your present readers might appreciate doing the same I am, therefore, writing this with the hope that you will deem at least a part of it worthy of publication.

I was pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Union from 1932-1934 and again from 1936-1941. Also during parts of these periods I pastored the Nazarene Church in North Waldoboro. My first born son—Nehemiah Wallace Ames, was born on Sept. 18, 1932. Now at the age of 17 he is in his third year of the publication of The Ames Information Booklet, the first copy of which was dated August 1947.

In September 1947, our family of 11 moved from Maine to California. Nehemiah has published his Booklet each month and has gone through his Sophomore and Junior years in Mountain View Union High School. He is now a Senior. The policy of The Ames Information Booklet, is to publish in each issue some humor, some religion and the balance, articles and items of general human interest.

Among those who have contributed material month from month for publication are such well-known names as these: Louis Stephen, St. Laurent; Prime Minister of Canada; Harold E. Stassen, President University of Pennsylvania; G. Frederick Owen, Authority on Palestine; the Governors of 12 states and Alaska; a Presbyterian Medical Missionary to the Navajo Indians; and the last but not least United States Senator Margaret Chase Smith has "On The Maine Line" in the September issue. Many more might be mentioned.

The October issue (ready for distribution Sept. 24) contains an article by Rev. Arthur W. Glynne, a former pastor of the Nazarene Church in Rockland who resigned in May 1942 to join the Army. He served as a bombardier in the Air Corps for the duration of World War II. He now resides in Burns, Oregon.

Rev. John L. Sawyer and family of Tenants Harbor motored to California this Summer to visit relatives and friends. They were gone two months and travelled over 10,000 miles. Mrs. Sawyer tells some of the highlights of this trip in the present issue. Another interesting article is titled "Sunday Evening Oct. 2-A Triple Coincidence." Many more articles make the October number one to be desired. The booklet sells for ten cents per copy or by subscription one dollar a year.

Anyone reading this who may be interested enough to learn more about this seventeen-year-old High School boy and his monthly Ames Information Booklet may write to him and you will receive a courteous and prompt reply. His address is: Nehemiah W. Ames, Rt. 1, Box 209-B, Mt. View, Calif.

The October issue also contains a list of the number of subscribers by states and countries. The booklet has gone to every continent, every state in the U.S.A., provinces of Canada, Mexico, Central American countries, Alaska, Hawaii and British Isles and West Indies.

John Wallace Ames.

Comes An Interesting Letter From A Former Nazarene Pastor In Union

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

When I lived in Union I recall that I used to enjoy reading letters in your paper from people who had moved to other parts of the nation. Thinking that some of your present readers might appreciate doing the same I am, therefore, writing this with the hope that you will deem at least a part of it worthy of publication.

I was pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Union from 1932-1934 and again from 1936-1941. Also during parts of these periods I pastored the Nazarene Church in North Waldoboro. My first born son—Nehemiah Wallace Ames, was born on Sept. 18, 1932. Now at the age of 17 he is in his third year of the publication of The Ames Information Booklet, the first copy of which was dated August 1947.

In September 1947, our family of 11 moved from Maine to California. Nehemiah has published his Booklet each month and has gone through his Sophomore and Junior years in Mountain View Union High School. He is now a Senior. The policy of The Ames Information Booklet, is to publish in each issue some humor, some religion and the balance, articles and items of general human interest.

Among those who have contributed material month from month for publication are such well-known names as these: Louis Stephen, St. Laurent; Prime Minister of Canada; Harold E. Stassen, President University of Pennsylvania; G. Frederick Owen, Authority on Palestine; the Governors of 12 states and Alaska; a Presbyterian Medical Missionary to the Navajo Indians; and the last but not least United States Senator Margaret Chase Smith has "On The Maine Line" in the September issue. Many more might be mentioned.

The October issue (ready for distribution Sept. 24) contains an article by Rev. Arthur W. Glynne, a former pastor of the Nazarene Church in Rockland who resigned in May 1942 to join the Army. He served as a bombardier in the Air Corps for the duration of World War II. He now resides in Burns, Oregon.

Rev. John L. Sawyer and family of Tenants Harbor motored to California this Summer to visit relatives and friends. They were gone two months and travelled over 10,000 miles. Mrs. Sawyer tells some of the highlights of this trip in the present issue. Another interesting article is titled "Sunday Evening Oct. 2-A Triple Coincidence." Many more articles make the October number one to be desired. The booklet sells for ten cents per copy or by subscription one dollar a year.

Anyone reading this who may be interested enough to learn more about this seventeen-year-old High School boy and his monthly Ames Information Booklet may write to him and you will receive a courteous and prompt reply. His address is: Nehemiah W. Ames, Rt. 1, Box 209-B, Mt. View

ROCKLAND ENROLLMENT

If Sub-Primary Classes Had Been Held Grades Would Have Shown An Increase

The enrollment in the Rockland Schools has increased beyond the estimates as made in 1947. It was estimated at that time that the total enrollment from grade one through eight, including sub-primary would be 1302 pupils. The actual enrollment, grades one through eight, at the opening of schools was 1163.

If sub-primary classes had been held this year, the total enrollment would have been 1332, or an increase of 30 pupils over and above previous estimates. The actual increase in enrollment over and above last year is as follows:

Grade one, 55; grade two, 51; grade three, 5; grade five, 14; grade six, 4; grade seven, 19; grade eight, 4. There was a decrease of 12 in Grade Five. This leaves an over-all increase, grades one through eight, of 140 pupils.

If the sub-primary classes had been carried on this year, on a one-fourth time basis, there would have been 172 pupils, which would represent, in school load, an actual increase of one-fourth, or 43 pupils. Therefore the actual increased pupil load over last year is 81 pupils. This figure takes into account a decrease of 16 pupils in the High School.

In that the survey made in 1947 underestimated rather than overestimated increased enrollments, it is safe to assume that there will be six classes at each grade level of 30 or more each year until 1952. This will make an increase in enrollments of 220 pupils in the next three years, or to be more specific, the need for seven more teachers and classrooms which would completely fill Purchase Street School once again. A more up-to-date survey will be made in May of next year, in order that citizens of Rockland can better anticipate the needs of the schools in the future.

It is fortunate that the residents of this city were forward-looking and provided the new South End School. If this building had not been constructed pupils in Grades One, Two and probably Three, would have been going to school on a one-half time basis, this year. Now is the time to look to the future and anticipate the needs as was done in the past, in order that overcrowded conditions will not exist five years hence.

It is recognized that Purchase Street School can be used for school purposes, but it is obsolete. Its location will mean the costly transportation of pupils of the North End to that building in future years.

J. Weldon Russell, Superintendent of Schools.

The Sea Breeze Staff

At THS Headed By Editor Dorothy Crute and Manager Frank Hardy

Early election of a staff for the Thomaston High School "Senior Sea Breeze" staff indicates early publication of the school annual next Spring with the students being able to purchase the books well in advance of graduation.

The staff is nearly complete with only the proof readers and typists to be named when the material starts from the editor's desk for publication.

The editorial group is headed by Dorothy Crute while the business staff is under the direction of Frank Hardy. The full staff follows:

Editor, Dorothy Crute; assistant editor, Priscilla Burton; business manager, Frank Hardy; assistant business manager, Edith Hunt; literary editor, Joan Young; assistant literary editor, Constance Knights; art editor, Marilyn Maxcy; local editor, Charlene Spaulding.

Appleton Has 57 Students Enrolled; Fenwick Heads the Student Council

Appleton High School has the largest enrollment in its history this year, according to Principal Ernest Ratten. A roster of 57 students is the highest on record in the North Knox institution.

Mr. Ratten started his eighth year as head of the school when sessions opened Sept. 7. Assistant this year is Miss Joan Violette who graduated from the University of Maine last June.

Elections were held Sept. 9 for Student Council positions with Willis Fenwick being named president and Billie Gray vice president. Secretary of the student group is Gloria Mank with Marian Griffin named as treasurer.

Class representatives are Herbert Bean, Seniors; Jean Fish, Juniors; Louise Grinnell, Sophomores and Frank Mank for the Freshmen.

Extension Courses Will Be Provided By St. Joseph's College

Doctor Daniel J. O'Neill, president of the College of Our Lady of Mercy, formerly Saint Joseph's College of Portland, announces that the 1949 session of Fall and Winter Extension courses will open the week of Oct. 3. The session will be under the direction of Sister Mary Honoratus, Dean of the College. Registration will take place on Sept. 29 and under the supervision of Sister Mary Aline, new Registrar of the College.

The extension courses are intended for both men and women, and carry credit which may be applied to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education as well as to all other degrees. Classes will extend over a period of twenty weeks, and will be 70 minutes in duration.

Included in the program, Doctor O'Neill points out, are several courses which represent the first in a cycle designed especially for an adult program in the liberal arts. Courses will be given in English Composition, Logic, Public Speaking, Sociology, French and Education.

In announcing this program Doctor O'Neill added that the College of Our Lady of Mercy "assuming its unique role as a liberal arts college as well as a teacher training institution empowered to grant the Bachelor of Arts degree also the Bachelor of Science in Education and Elementary Education, and therefore to accord academic credit to those adults who desire it, is indeed happy to join the other Portland Colleges in working assiduously to provide the badly needed educational opportunities for adults."

"GREENIES" DAY AT R. H. S.

Freshmen To Be Both Hazed and Honored By Seniors At Rockland High On Friday

The Freshmen Reception committee has been working hard at Rockland High School this week planning a great time for Friday, Sept. 23. The hazing will be in order all day. Freshmen girls will wear their hair in pin curls. Neither nets nor scarves will be allowed to cover the pins. No make up of any kind will be used. They will wear short skirts, blouses turned backside to and inside out, slippers on their feet. They will carry dolls and wear ear-rings. Boys will wear short pants, no stockings, old shoes, T-shirts and flashy neckties. With the exception of class periods they will don ear muffs and mittens.

The girl "greenies" will be identified by a green ribbon tied around their left leg and the boys, a green bow around their head.

The public is invited to attend the gala affair in the evening. There will be more than an hour's entertainment on the stage in the auditorium. The show will start at 8 o'clock. Dancing to the music of Eddie Hustus' newly formed band will follow. Eddie is a senior this year and has willingly donated his band for this occasion. His outfit is really "solid." The total price for this entire evening's fun is only thirty cents.

The reception committee comprised of Richard Jones, chairman; Janice Koster, JoAnn Champlin, Eunice Pettie, Marion Tracy, Claire Brickley, Dino Galiano, Wesley Hoch, Donald Joseph and Robert Van Fleet have named the heads of the committees necessary for the day's success. Decorations will be in charge of Peggy Eagan, Averie Eaton and Roland Ware. At the door to greet the guests will be Rita Hammond, Alberta Sprague, and Janice Stanley. Bruce Stratton and Deane Deshon will check the Freshmen as they enter in the evening to see that none will miss the fun. Each "Green-horn" will be decorated as he comes in by Joanne Chisholm, Norene Bartlett, and Elizabeth Herick. Other seniors will choose their committees. The refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. Hart, canteen director. Clean-up will be in charge of the Freshmen.

A big crowd is expected to attend this annual event at Rockland High School, the Freshmen Reception, Friday, Sept. 23, in the Rockland High School auditorium. Please come!

Rockland Shop Classes See Micrometer Movie; Other Films Planned

On Monday and Tuesday students enrolled in the advanced vocational course were given opportunity to see a motion picture film on the operation and uses of the micrometer, a tool very frequently used for accurate measurements in automobile and machine shop work.

This showing of a modern film, explaining up-to-date practices, is the first of many films which will be shown and studied by the vocational shop group and is a part of the new planned course of study for these students.

Graphic Arts Exhibit

At Farnsworth Museum Is Being Visited By R.H.S. Senior Class Today

Rockland High Seniors are visiting the Farnsworth Museum today in three groups to study the Graphic Arts show which opened there this morning. Director James M. Brown is conducting tours of the show personally.

The various methods of reproducing the written word, pictures and art work are shown in detail in the exhibit which is in the downstairs gallery.

The show takes one from the first days of moveable wooden type down through the years to the introduction of metal type. The various phases of lithography and offset lithography are shown as well as the steps necessary to produce printed matter by the letter press process and the reproduction of photographs and art work by photo-engraving.

The several steps necessary in the production of a modern newspaper are shown in a display prepared by The Courier-Gazette.

Miss Gray's home room students will go to the museum at recess time while those in Mrs. Vilk's auditorium group will visit the museum during periods five and six respectively.

Director James M. Brown of the museum extends an invitation to groups from all high schools of the country to visit the exhibit which will be on display into October.

Sixty Enrolled In School, Four Of Whom Are From Out Of State; Two New Teachers

School begun Sept. 7, with a registration of 60 students: Seniors, 20; juniors, 12; Sophomores, 12; Freshmen, 16.

There are three new students registered this year, two from Townsend, Mass., and one from Detroit, Mich.

The freshmen appear to be fitting into the program in grand style and this will be "the week" for them—a few days of stunts and novelties climaxed by the Freshman reception at the end.

There were two new members of the faculty on hand to greet the returning students, Miss Madelyn Webber of Augusta, a graduate of the University of Maine, will teach English and foreign languages, in place of Miss Snow who retired last June. Mrs. Frederick Sutherland from Plainfield, N. J., and a graduate of Colby College will teach the social studies and some business courses in place of Mrs. Brown who resigned last June.

Mr. Sutherland will coach boys' athletics and the baseball team is already practicing for a few games this Fall before the weather turns cold.

The hot lunch program started with the second week of school and is again being well patronized. It is expected that even more students will avail themselves of this opportunity when colder weather arrives.

T.H.S. Freshmen Initiated Last Week

Members of the Thomaston class of '53 in their costumes which were the order of the day last Thursday and Friday. The paddle boys in the back row watched closely for any infraction of the initiation day rules and punished the offenders on the spot.

The introduction of the Freshmen into the student body at Thomaston High took the latter part of last week and ended with the Freshman reception Friday night when four new faculty members were initiated as well.

Tuesday morning the Seniors issued orders to the newcomers as to their dress and behavior the rest of the week. They were required to attend school in all manner of Wild costumes Thursday and Friday and were directly under the supervision of several husky paddle boys from the class of '50 who saw to it that the youngsters complied with all the rules of the day.

Boys were dressed as girls and girls as boys in many instances. Girls clumped about in fishermen's rubber boots, while husky boys carried their swishing skirts well indeed. Baby carriages were propelled to and from school to the extent that the school yard resembled that of an infant clinic rather than a high school.

Traveling upstairs was strictly on hands and knees with those who tried to make it on foot, when the paddle boys weren't looking, getting a lousy whack for their troubles.

President Frank Hardy of the Senior class presided over the two-day session as student principal.

The reception Friday night was a sellout, with 450 persons crowding the gym for the annual event. Freshmen were required to appear in official costumes which were short dresses for the girls and short pants and short sleeved shirts for the boys, each adorned with a green arm band.

New faculty members initiated were science teacher Glenn Morris, who joined the teaching staff late last year, and Mrs. Hazel Young of the fourth grade Miss Lois Benner of the fifth grade, and Norman Moulton of the eighth grade, all of whom were new teachers in September.

UNION HIGH CLASS ELECTIONS

Ralph Knight Leads '50 With Moore and Grinnell Piloting '51 and '52

Elections in the three upper classes of Union High School have been held and members of the Student Council named from each of the classes. The Freshmen have weathered the storm of the Freshmen Reception Friday before the elections are held.

The Senior Class is headed by Ralph Knight as president. Annie Niemi has been named as secretary and Paul Leonard as treasurer.

Junior class president is Ronel-

low Moore with Donald Cramer as vice president; Annie Moore, secretary and Duane Rowell, treasurer.

Leading the Sophomores for the year is Gordon Grinnell with Faye Robbins as vice president. Jeanette Upham was named class secretary and Marshall Payson the treasurer.

Class representatives to the Student Council include Paul Leonard and Patricia Waters from the Senior class with Esten Peabody representing the Junior class and Edric Day the Sophomores.

Knox Business College

Enrollment Reaches 37 This Year; Students From Several Towns

Enrollment at Knox Business College has reached 37 students with most of the towns of Knox County being represented and one each from Waldo and Lincoln Counties.

Both day and evening sessions are being held at the school.

The following students are attending the day classes: Mrs. Eileen Brackett, Donald E. Clark, Bernard Duffy, Mrs. Pauline Foster, John Gamage, Paul J. Halligan, Norman Hammond, Francis D. Hedrich, Herbert Hillgrove, Mrs. June P. York and Richard Young all of Rockland.

Miss Mary E. Tolman, Rockport; Vernon B. Hunter, Rockville, and Miriam Cline, Spruce Head, Gilbert Beattie, Arnold Fernald, Philip Fernald, Robert Hall, Oswald Stetson and Enos Verge, Thomaston, Alice May Morse, Waldoboro.

Those students who attend the evening sessions are: Elden Madocks, Jr., Belfast; Chauncey Grinnell, Camden; and the following from Rockland: Richard Harper, Edgar Kent, Mrs. Edna Melvin, Jean Morris, Kenneth Nelson, Jr., Ruth Roberts, Freeman Staples, and Grace Thompson.

Vernon Kenney, Rockport; Helen Adams, Janet Johnson, Avis Maxcy, Christine Maxcy and Anita Robinson, Thomaston.

Those students averaging 100 in arithmetic to Sept. 15 are: Mary Tolman, Enos Verge, Robert Hall, Oswald Stetson, Gilbert Beattie, Alice Morse, Richard Young, Arnold Fernald, Philip Fernald.

Grace Paulsen Of Thomaston A Freshman In Chicago Institution

Miss Grace Paulsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Paulsen, 17 Plucker street, Thomaston, was among the 65 freshman students who entered the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing in Chicago Monday. Miss Paulsen is a 1945 graduate of Thomaston High School and received her B.A. degree at Wheaton College in Wheaton, Illinois.

The Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing is widely known for its high standards and the important positions held by many of its graduates. It is accredited by the State of Illinois Department of Education and Registration and by the National League of Nursing Education. It is also registered with the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York.

Presbyterian Hospital, in which students receive their clinical instruction and nursing experience, cares for an average of over 400 bed patients and 200 clinic patients daily. It is affiliated with the University of Illinois College of Medicine and is the only large non-government hospital in the Chicago Medical Center District, in which are found more hospital beds and more students of medicine, nursing and related professions than in any similar area in the world.

Tigers Meet Skowhegan Saturday

Rockland's Tigers go into their second game of the season Saturday against Skowhegan after a week layoff due to a hole in the schedule last Saturday.

Reports have it that the Skowhegan squad suffered heavy losses by graduation and cannot be expected to put the strong team on the field it did last year when they whipped the Orange and Black crew by a 32-13 score at Community Park. In turn, Rockland has six lettermen to send into the game, plus several promising newcomers to the outfit.

Rockland's opener was a rough one as a strong Madison outfit, little crippled by graduation, tied a 12-0 score on the Tigers. However, the Rocklanders showed themselves as a promising outfit and stood well against the power shown by the upstate team which rolled over competition last year with hardly a halt.

Jack Smith will be sparking the Tigers from the quarterback position with Dick Roberts at fullback and Dean Deshon and Bob Annis carrying the load in the halfback positions.

The line is gaining fast after a better than average showing against Madison and should offer some real opposition to the Skowhegan backs on their own gridiron Saturday afternoon.

ing of school this year. Second new member of the faculty is Miss Cecile Lewis of Carmel who is teaching French and English. She is a University of Maine graduate.

The teaching staff is completed by Principal Winfred Kenoyer and Edmund Gibson, both veteran teachers at Union.

To Be Feted Friday Night At Community Hall By the Sophomores

The Freshman Reception of Appleton High will be held Friday night at Community Hall and will be followed by a dance to the tune of Moody's Orchestra.

Officers of the Sophomore class were elected early in order to allow immediate arrangements for the traditional reception to the school's newcomers. Heading the class this year is Delia Robbins with Arthur Bean serving as vice president. Beverly Fish was named as class secretary and Louise Grinnell as treasurer.

The reception and dance will be colorful affairs with the Sophs making plans to give the first year class a royal welcome to AHS.

ROCKLAND Film Council

"Projected Visual Aids" will again be in the public's mind and eye as the Rockland Film Council swings into stride for the Fall and Winter programs with a monthly meeting at the Farnsworth Art Museum Thursday night at 7:30, with President Ruth Rogers in charge.

Speaking of "visual aids," there is a new book on the AV (audio-visual) Shelf at the local library on "Preparation and Use of Visual Aids." Authors of the book are Kenneth B. Haas, Field Agent for Business Education, Washington, D. C.; Special Training Consultant, and Harry Q. Packer, State Supervisor of Distributive Education, West Virginia Department of Education. More important to us of Rockland than the information about the technical ability of the authors is the knowledge included in the pages of their book. In 13 chapters the authors list all types of visual aids, sources of equipment and materials, how to use same effectively, how to make your own, and how to use inexpensive but often overlooked sources of "visual education." Why not pick this book up soon and then get it back quickly so others may use it.

If you are interested in what the business thinks of visual aids and what it is doing about them, borrow the July issue of "Business Screen Magazine" at the Rockland Public Library. All sorts of factual reports on the various industries, their new films, and reports of what industries and film councils are doing and have done recently are all graphically portrayed in this issue.

The ninth annual edition of "Educators Guide to Free Films" has been received by the Rockland Film Council, and will be available for

First Company "Non-Red" Oath Wins Acclaim

Filing the first company non-communist affidavits with the government, even though the Taft-Hartley Act requires signatures only from union leaders, wins acclaim for the officers and directors of the Timken Roller Bearing Company. In a letter to Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, William E. Umstadt, Timken president, pictured above, states that company officers, directors and men charged with negotiating contracts with labor unions should sign anti-communist and anti-subversive oaths.

According to General Counsel Robert N. Denham of the National Labor Relations Board, the affidavits were accepted with pleasure and will be kept in the files as evidence of the outstanding good faith and managerial cleanliness of the Timken organization.

Several moves have been made in congress, unsuccessful so far, to require oaths from employers as well as unions.

Greatest Laughmaker

Gallup Poll Awards Palm To Bob Hope—Jack Benny Third

All America loves a laugh—and almost every American has his own idea as to who is the funniest laugh-maker ever in the business. But the reigning comedian in the public's mind, is Bob Hope.

He outdistances his closest rivals in the Institute's first "comedy star derby"—with stage, screen, radio, or television stars all included—by a commanding ratio of almost 2½ to 1. Next come Milton Berle, Jack Benny, Red Skelton and Fibber McGee and Molly—all close on the heels of each other.

Who bobby-soxers and collegians would name as the funniest comedian was not determined in the survey. But for many adult voters questioned there's nobody, it seems, like Hope for a laugh. He leads the parade of side-splitters as the Number One choice of both men and women, of voters in all sections of the country except the New England and Middle Atlantic States, and of voters of all levels of education.

These facts were brought to light in a survey involving 3043 personal interviews with a balanced cross-section of men and women over 21 years of age throughout America. To the rich and poor, to the educated and uneducated, to people in their seventies and eighties down to people in their twenties and thirties, the institute put this question:

"Of all the comedians you have heard or seen perform on the stage, on the radio or television, or in the movies—which one do you think is the funniest?" The top 15 funniest comedians were:

1. Bob Hope
2. Milton Berle
3. Jack Benny
4. Red Skelton
5. Fibber McGee and Molly
6. Abbott and Costello
7. Fred Allen
8. Amos and Andy

9. Arthur Godfrey
10. Eddie Cantor
11. Jimmy Durante
12. Danny Kaye
13. Marx Brothers
14. Henry Morgan
15. Charlie Chaplin

The Marx Brothers were counted as a team, with Groucho mentioned most frequently.

Two interesting sidelights emerged from the survey. One reveals the impact of television, especially in the New England and Middle Atlantic States. Here, voters questioned gave first place as funniest comedian TV Star Milton Berle.

The other shows that either the lustre of oldtime cop-and-custard pie heroes has been eclipsed by present-day "talkie" film, radio and television comedy artists—or the public's memory of silent film comedians has faded with time. Only one of the great silent film comedians landed in the top 15—Charlie Chaplin.

The memory of some voters, however, of the antics of Buster Keaton, Harold Lloyd, and Fatty Arbuckle is still good enough for these stars of yesterday to be mentioned. Will Rogers was named by several voters.

Among the men interviewed, the top 10 funniest comedians are Hope, Berle, Benny, Skelton, Fibber McGee & Molly, Abbott & Costello, Allen, Durante, Amos and Andy, and Cantor.

The women's choices — Hope Skelton, Benny, Berle, Abbott & Costello, Fibber McGee & Molly, Godfrey, Amos & Andy, Allen, and

Guess who's losing sleep over this one?

FOR years, folks have talked about the "low-priced three" in the car business.

For a generation these have been the same three cars, unchallenged for position simply because they were lowest priced.

But take a look at the beauty pictured here and ask yourself:

How would you like to sell against it, with its wealth of Buick features?

How would you like to compete with it when it wears a price tag any new-car buyer can reach, gives you straight-eight performance for less than many sixes?

Truth is, this one sets a lot of standards that are going to be hard to match.

This styling is certainly something to start other designers tossing in their sleep?

This handy size—a dream in traffic, yet generous in interior room—is a "must" for cars yet to come.

The lift of high-pressure Fireball power—the luxury of Dynaflo Drive, here optional at modest extra cost—all these are wanted things others just can't overlook.

So why not do the obvious thing and go see the car that's causing sleepless nights in Detroit?

Study its smartness, test its room and comfort, try its handling, note the precise figures of its delivered prices.

You can do all that on a single trip to your Buick dealer's—and make your selection of a wide choice of equipment and colors at the same time.

WHY THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD STRIKE?

Over twenty years ago, the Congress of the United States passed the Railway Labor Act. It was hailed by union leaders as a model for the settlement of labor disputes.

efficiently or economically if the leaders of the unions ignore agreements or laws.

Provisions of the Law which are Disregarded

There are five ways under the Railway Labor Act to settle disputes over the meaning of contracts:

- 1—Decision by National Railroad Adjustment Board.
- 2—Decision by System Adjustment Board for the specific railroad.
- 3—Decision by arbitration.
- 4—Decision by neutral referee.
- 5—Decision by courts.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad has been and is entirely willing to have these disputes settled in accordance with the requirements of the Railway Labor Act. Regardless of this fact, the union leaders have shut down that railroad.

Innocent Bystanders Suffer Losses and Hardships

There are about 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Missouri Pacific. They are known as "operating" employees, and are the most highly paid of all employees on the nation's railroads, but their strike action has resulted in the loss of work to 22,500 other employees of the Missouri Pacific. In addition, they have imposed great inconvenience and hardship upon the public and the communities served by that railroad.

The Railway Labor Act was designed to protect the public against just such interruptions of commerce.

If these men will not comply with the provisions of the law for the settlement of such disputes, then all thinking Americans must face the question, "What is the next step?"

President Truman's Board Condemns Strike

There is an established legal method for handling disputes involving existing written contracts—just as there is such a method of settling any contract dispute which you may have in your daily life.

The President of the United States appointed a Fact Finding Board to investigate and adjust the Missouri Pacific dispute. This Board reported, in part, as follows:

"... it is with a deep sense of regret that we are obliged to report the failure of our mission. It seems inconceivable to us that a coercive strike could occur on one of the nation's major transportation systems, with all of the losses and hardships that would follow, in view of the fact that the Railway Labor Act provides an orderly, efficient and complete remedy for the fair and just settlement of the matters in dispute. Grievances of the character here under discussion are so numerous and of such frequent occurrence on all railroads that the general adoption of the policy pursued by the organizations in this case would soon result in the complete nullification of the Railway Labor Act..."

Obviously the railroads cannot be run

There is no Need for Strikes

With all of the available methods for the interpretation of contracts, there is no need for a strike or even a threat of a strike, but the leaders of these railroad unions have ignored the ordinary procedures established by law and insist upon imposing their own interpretations of their contracts by means of a strike.

The wheels have stopped rolling on the Missouri Pacific. They may stop rolling on other railroads at any time. Recently the Wabash Railroad was forced to discontinue operation for several days under similar circumstances.

What are These Strikes About?

These strikes and strike threats are not about wage rates or hours. They result from disputes over the meaning of existing contracts. They cover claims for a full day's pay for less than a day's work, or for payments for services performed by others who were fully paid for the work done.
